Civic SiR shown in Vivid Blue Pearl.

The 2004 SiR takes Honda's racing heritage of agile and responsive high-performance Civic models to its most powerful level yet. To some, the Civic SiR represents the perfect evolution. To others, it's the perfect beginning. However you choose to look at it, this latest edition SiR moves forward with the thrust of its 160-hp i-VTEC™ engine. With 16" alloy wheels and a Euro-sport 4-wheel independent suspension, it carves the corners with taut precision. And it turns heads with a fresh, updated style.

Blast-off. SiR gives you soul-stirring performance thanks to its 4 valves per cylinder, Dual Overhead Camshaft (DOHC) engine design. Add to that a free-revving i-VTEC™ system that produces low-rpm responsiveness and high rpm power, and the road is yours to command. And when you need to bring all that performance to a stop, Electronic Brake Distribution (EBD) allocates more braking power to the wheels with greater traction.

U.S. model shown.

Big performance. From the moment you slip into the body hugging, racing inspired bucket seats, you know it's going to be a thrill-a-minute ride. Take the rally-style shifter in your hand and begin slicing the corners. And once you experience those other little amenities like cruise control, AM/FM/CD audio system, and power moonroof, you'll soon realize that the Civic SiR takes you to a whole new level of driving excitement.
